

Important Announcement on Google Notifier Beta

We are writing to let you know about an important change to Google Notifier Beta. Starting on January 31, 2014, Google Notifier Beta will no longer be supported, meaning the app will no longer show recent emails and calendar events.

Since the Google Notifier Beta launched in 2005, a lot has changed. Smart phones can now notify us of new messages wherever we are, and Improvements to web technology enable similar features to be built right into the browser.

If you want to continue to receive notifications, you can use any of the following alternatives to Google Notifier Beta using the Chrome browser:

- To see the number of unread messages in your inbox at a glance, install the Gmail Checker Chrome app.
- To preview new messages on your desktop, go to Gmail's settings and enable Desktop Notifications
- To get Calendar notifications on the desktop, go to Calendar's settings and enable Show floating desktop notifications.

You can uninstall the Google Notifier Beta by following these instructions.
- The Gmail and Calendar Teams